CESAA NEWS

CESAA Essay Competition 2013

Closing date: 31 May 2013

The 20th annual CESAA essay competition is calling for submissions from undergraduate and postgraduate students enrolled in an Australian tertiary institution. Essays from any discipline which deals with contemporary Europe (post war), and/or the European Union are eligible.

Eligibility criteria and further information are available on the CESAA website <<http://www.cesaa.org.au/cesaa-essay-competitions.htm>>.

Recent Event: Democracy in Europe following the Italian Elections

On 19 April the EU Centre at RMIT in conjunction with the Contemporary European Studies Association of Australia (CESAA) and the Institute of European Democrats (IED), Brussels hosted a public lecture on the Italian political situation in the aftermath of the Italian elections and its drawbacks for democracy in the European Union. The lecture was presented by Luca Bader, Director of the Institute of European Democrats (IED); advisor of the Committees of Foreign Affairs and Defence of the Italian Parliament; and responsible for Europe and North America at the Democratic Party (PD) in Italy.

AUSTRALIA-EU RELATIONS

Governor-General of Australia to lead 2013 European Australian Business Council (EABC) Business Mission to Europe

The Mission, which will be run from 2-7 June 2013, while the 7th EABC Mission to Europe will be the first economic mission led by a Governor-General of Australia. The EABC welcomed the announcement that the Governor-General of Australia, Her Excellency Ms Quentin Bryce AC CVO, has agreed, with the Government's support, to lead its 2013 Business Mission to Europe.

The EABC's objective is to promote trade and investment between Australia and Europe, and to connect business and policy-makers on issues affecting Australia's largest economic relationship.

Saskia Hufnagel, Policing Cooperation Across Borders: Comparative Perspectives on Law Enforcement within the EU and Australia, Farnham, England: Ashgate, 2013.

This book provides new insights into police cooperation from a comparative socio-legal perspective. It presents a broad analysis of comparable police cooperation strategies in two systems: the EU and Australia. The evolution of regulatory trends and cooperation models is analysed for both systems and possible transferable strategies identified.

EVENTS

Public Lectures & Seminars

07 May 2013 – 17.30–18.30

The Euro crisis: The long view

Location: Molonglo Theatre, Level 2, JG Crawford Building
132, Lennox Crossing, Canberra, ANU

This lecture is presented by the Sir Roland Wilson Foundation, and supported by the Economics Society of Australia and Crawford School of Public Policy at The Australian National University.

Speaker: Professor Barry Eichengreen, George C. Pardee and Helen N. Pardee Professor of Economics and Professor of Political Science at the University of California, Berkeley, Research Associate of the National Bureau of Economic Research (Cambridge, Massachusetts) and Research Fellow of the Centre for Economic Policy Research (London, England), fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences (class of 1997)

The euro crisis never seems to end. One reason why Europe is chronically unable to draw a line under its crisis is a failure to understand how it got into that crisis in the first place. In this lecture Professor Eichengreen takes a long view of events, starting with the birth of the European Union and advent of the euro and concluding with recommendations for resolving the crisis.

15 May 2013 – 17.00–18.00

Moving Beyond “Common Values and a Shared History”: Negotiating a Comprehensive Free Trade Agreement between Australia & Europe

Location: ANU Centre for European Studies, 1 Liversidge Street (Bldg 67C), Canberra

Speaker: Alastair Walton, President of the European Australian Business Council. Chaired by Professor Margaret Harding, Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Research), Australian National University (ANU).

In his Robert Schuman lecture presented at the ANU in May 2012 Alastair Walton stated that Australia should continue to build on the momentum of a rapidly improving relationship with Europe by pursuing an ambitious bilateral agenda including the negotiation of a comprehensive Free Trade Agreement. This lecture identifies the historical importance of the free movement of labour and capital to the emergence of a modern Europe but also to the fundamental underpinnings of the European Union itself. The European “continent of peace” has been built on the four freedoms of the internal market namely, the guarantee of the free movement of goods, capital, services, and people. These freedoms are intended to be conducive to increased competition, increased specialisation, larger economies of scale, allowing goods and the factors of production to move to those areas where they are most valued, thus improving efficiency of the allocation of resources. With the upcoming 100th anniversary of the commencement of World War I there is an opportunity to move beyond the rhetoric of “common values and a shared history” and acknowledge Australia’s military contribution to Europe’s freedom by negotiating a comprehensive FTA along the same lines as is currently being negotiated between Canada and Europe. This FTA would also act as a lever for the urgent and significant reforms which will be required for the Australian economy in the years ahead with the upcoming end to our booming terms of trade.

The event is followed by a reception. RSVP for this event to europe@anu.edu.au by Monday 13 May 2013.

Workshops

National

08 September 2013

European Studies Graduate Workshop

Location: ANU Centre for European Studies, 1 Liversidge Street (Bldg 67C), Canberra

This graduate workshop is linked with the conference ‘Smart, Sustainable and Inclusive: Researching the EU from Australia and New Zealand’, convened by the four EU Centres at the Australian National University, Monash University, RMIT University and the New Zealand EU Centres Network. The workshop precedes the conference, which runs from 9-11 September.

The workshop will address the themes of the conference, but also encourage presentations on all aspects of European Studies. This is an opportunity for graduate students working in the European Studies field in this region to come together in an informal, supportive environment. Planned as a forum for discussion of key issues, students will present their work and receive constructive feedback and professional training from senior scholars, providing a chance to interact and socialise prior to the start of the conference, which graduate students are also encouraged to attend.

Limited travel funds are available on application for students from Monash University, RMIT University, the Australian National University and the New Zealand EU Centres Network. Please contact your relevant EU Centre for more details.

Workshop participants are welcome to submit a paper proposal for the conference. For all conference information, see the call for papers and/or conference entry. Please note that the deadline for conference paper abstracts is now 10 May 2013.

The graduate workshop is a free event. For enquiries and to register, please contact 02 6125 9896 or email europe@anu.edu.au by 1 June 2013.

International

11–14 September 2013

Berlin, Germany

21st annual workshop of the European Research Network on Transitions in Youth

The 21st annual workshop of the European Research Network on Transitions in Youth will be hosted by the research institute WZB (Wissenschaftszentrum Berlin für Sozialforschung). Since 2009, the economic crisis has put pressure on national economies and labour markets all over the world, but the burdens are unequally distributed among different social groups. Young people are among those who tend to suffer most heavily from economic downturns. Many governments are launching various policy initiatives to tackle the severe consequences the crisis has had on youth labour markets. Depending on the institutional framework, these measures show diverse results for different groups of young people. As an integral part of labour market entry processes, such policies and their effects should be thoroughly understood.

Call for Papers

National

‘SMART, SUSTAINABLE AND INCLUSIVE’: Researching the EU from Australia and New Zealand

Australian National University, Canberra

Closing date: 10 May 2013

‘SMART, SUSTAINABLE AND INCLUSIVE’: Researching the EU from Australia and New Zealand’ is the title of an international conference convened jointly by the four EU Centres at the Australian National University, the University of Canterbury, Monash University and RMIT

University. The conference will be taking place from 9–11 September 2013 at the Australian National University in Canberra.

At a time when the EU has high ambitions and faces critical challenges, this conference will bring together researchers from various disciplines to share their insights into the issues confronting the European Union over the next decade.

While contributions on any topic related to the broad theme are welcomed, it is suggested that the following sub-themes might be particularly relevant to researchers working on these questions in New Zealand, Australia, Asia and the Pacific:

- EU and the World: regionalism, challenges and bilateral relations
- Prospects for the EU
- EU and Asia-Pacific
- Creative cultures and connections

Submission of a proposal for consideration for inclusion in the conference program is invited. Please forward an abstract of 350–400 words by no later than 10 May 2013 to Professor Bruce Wilson, Director, European Union Centre at RMIT, at bruce.wilson@rmit.edu.au. Proposals for workshops or panel sessions will be particularly welcome. You will be advised whether your paper or workshop proposal has been accepted for the conference by 20 May 2013. Whether you are a postgraduate student, an early career researcher or experienced academic/practitioner, please do consider offering a paper for this conference.

International

17–18 May 2013

2013 EUSA AP Annual Conference: Reassessing the EU-Asia Pacific Relationship in the context of the EU crisis

Location: Macao

The Euro-zone crisis is a perfect example of how, in an interconnected world, events within one region have effects that are felt throughout the world. Asia Pacific counties are significant exporters and importers to the Eurozone and EU. The stability of the Euro, depressed demand for manufactured goods and credit ratings have direct consequences in Asia Pacific counties.

Is there more continuity or change in the EU-Asia Pacific relationship? How do different groups perceive the EU and any changes in its relationship to the region? The aim of this conference is to investigate these questions from both a European and an Asia Pacific perspective.

This conference will be multidisciplinary in focus. Academics and graduate students from a wide range of fields are encouraged to present at this conference adding to a deeper understanding of the complexities of the EU-Asia Pacific relationship.

Politics and policies in times of economic crisis

Location: Siena, Italy

The Rivista Italiana di Scienza Politica (RISP) and the Società Italiana di Scienza Politica (SISP) will hold a two day conference in English on 13 and 14 June 2013. Day 1 will consist of two plenary sessions considering the state of Italian political science and the consequence of the crisis on the future government in Italy. Day 2 of the conference will consist of four parallel panels, exploring the following four broad topics:

- Challenges to EU Politics and EU external relations
- Challenges to parties and social movements
- Challenges to interest representation and representative institutions
- Challenges to policy making

18–21 September 2013

8th Pan-European Conference on International Relations

Location: Warsaw, Poland

This conference asks whether International Relations (IR) is able to respond effectively to the challenges posed to its assumptions and frameworks as such. That is, if international relations is characterised by multiple worlds and multiple crises then what does this say about the discipline of International Relations?

In other words, are there many rather than one International Relations and does this mean that there are multiple worlds and crises which IR scholars could study? And why and how does this matter?

While participants are especially invited to respond to the conference theme, proposals on all aspects of International Relations will be considered.

Further information is available at:

FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

Fellowships/Scholarships

Marie Curie Actions

Closing date: The application process runs until 14 August 2013

The European Commission is inviting bids for the final tranche of Marie Curie fellowship grants allotted under the current seventh Framework Programme for Research (FP7, 2007-13). Some €227 million, the highest single amount made available through the Marie Curie Actions fund, will be awarded to around 1000 experienced researchers this year.

The following two types of fellowships are open to non-European nationals:

- International Outgoing Fellowships (IOF) offer researchers the chance to acquire new knowledge in a high-level organisation outside Europe. As part of the grant agreement, the researchers have to return to Europe and share this knowledge.
- International Incoming Fellowships (IIF) enable researchers from outside Europe to be trained within a European institution.

Marie Curie individual fellowships support the mobility of researchers within and beyond Europe – as well as helping to attract the best foreign researchers to work in the EU. Individual fellowships will continue to be provided under the new Marie Skłodowska-Curie Actions as part of the Horizon 2020 programme, which starts in 2014.

Other funding opportunities

European Union Australia Cultural Cooperation Partners 2013

Closing date: 8 May 2013

The European Commission's Directorate General for Education and Culture has selected Australia as one of two Cultural Cooperation partners for 2013, (the other country is Canada). This means that European and Australian cultural organisations can submit joint proposals to take part in projects designed to promote cross-border cultural understanding.

Cooperation Projects aim to help cultural operators from participating European Countries such as theatres, museums, professional associations, research centres, universities, cultural institutes and public authorities to cooperate, so that different sectors can work together and extend their cultural and artistic reach across borders. Previous examples of such projects have ranged from promoting cultural dialogue through fashion, puppetry, and music, to photography festivals, literary projects, theatre and dance projects.

The European Union will co-finance up to half of the project costs to a maximum of €200,000 per project. Projects must involve three cultural operators from at least three different participating European countries, together with at least one organisation in Australia.

The deadline for applications is 8 May 2013 and successful applicants will be published on the results section on the website of the Executive Agency (www.ec.europa.eu/culture) on 31 August 2013. The starting date for successful projects is between 1 November 2013 and 31 October 2014, and the project duration is not more than 24 months.

Encounter: Australia-Europe— Ninth Round (2013)

Closing date for the 9th round: 15 May 2013

The Department of Industry, Innovation, Science, Research and Tertiary Education (DIISRTE) in conjunction with the European Union is calling for submissions for the 9th round of EU–Australia joint cooperation projects, opened by the European Commission on 14 December.

The 9th round projects are for commencement in 2013 and priority will be given to the development of EU–Australia joint degree projects from degree awarding institutions. The joint degree projects are of four years duration and provide support for Australian students to undertake study in Europe for an academic year. Submissions for other mobility projects are also invited from vocational education and training providers and degree awarding institutions.

The EU and Australia have long recognised the importance of academic cooperation and exchanges as a means to promote mutual understanding, innovation and quality of education with 2012 marking 50 years of partnership. The 9th round will be the second year that EU–Australia joint degrees have been offered emphasising the new phase of closer cooperation between the European Union and Australia.

The Encounter: Australia-Europe projects complement the ongoing EU–Australia Education and Training Policy Dialogues and facilitate new opportunities for collaboration. If you have any questions about the 9th round, please contact Europe.ed@innovation.gov.au.

Application guidelines and information on the 9th round of the Encounter: Australia-Europe joint cooperation projects are available on the Europe page of the AEI website at:

<https://aei.gov.au/international-network/europe/eubilateral-mobility-projects/pages/joint-mobility-projects.a>.
